AHS paints town orange, black for Homecoming

During the week of October 15-21, evidence of Homecoming at AHS was painted in orange and black on downtown and Ames High windows. In the halls of the high school were crepe paper-framed clocks, door decorations and victory signs. Pep Club girls decorated everything in sight, heaping players' lockers high with lollipops, balloons, toys and streamers.

3 PRIME MOVER of the football team was the Munn Lumber truck.

4 THREE-TIME WINNER—Homeroom 319 once again comes through with the winning door decoration and spirit jug.

5 TEEL HOE, TANK! Cheerleaders on roaring motorcycles and painted cars headed the procession to city hall.

Homecoming began Thursday with a pep assembly, whipping students into a wild surge of emotion climaxed by the announcement of the queen and her attendants. That evening cars and students gathered at the high school for a four-block-long caravan downtown. In the caravan were motorcycles for the cheersquad, a fire engine for the pep band, decorated cars and trucks for the football team and Pep Club. A traditional snake dance followed the short pep assembly held on the city hall steps. Friday the Little Cyclones defeated Lincoln of Des Moines in a real cliffhanger, 28-27. After the game, the Noteables played at the Homecoming dance, Ode to Autumn.

Months of planning and dedication resulted in this year's Christmas Formal. The responsibility of producing this glamorous social event fell upon the shoulders of the senior girls who transformed the Sun Room of the Memorial Union into a winter paradise revolving around the theme "Edelweiss." Glittering Christmas trees, soft lights and soothing dance music provided by Maury Powers created a mood of quiet elegance.

Assemblies give variety to Ames High student life

Assemblies offered a welcome relief from the routine of school classes. In addition to the thrill of pep assemblies, the programs were varied to provide entertainment and information for all Ames High students. Included in the assembly programs this year were a concert by the St. Olaf College Band, the student body election assembly, a gymnastics demonstration, two talent assemblies, and an inspirational speech by Dr. Ray Pugh, in a revival of the traditional Brotherhood Week. In addition, the students who lived abroad in the Youth for Understanding program told of their experiences.

- 1 FOOTBALL CO-CAPTAIN Dave Bliss speaks for team before the Boone game.
- 2 BROTHERHOOD WEEK was highlighted by an inspirational speech by Dr. Ray Pugh.
- 3 PEP CLUB SKITS gave encouragement to the Little Cyclone gridders.

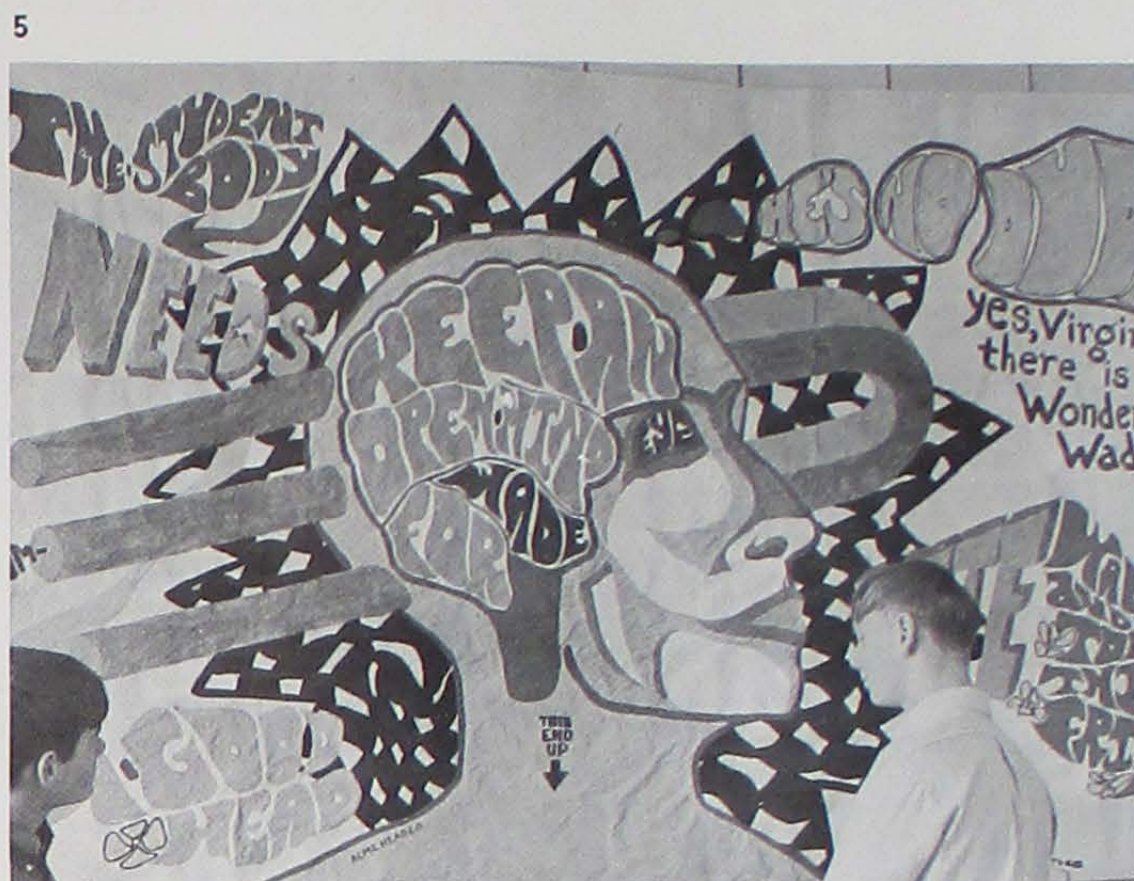

1 ECHOES OF CAMPAIGN speeches were all that were left after the election assembly.

2 THE BALANCE BEAM and Jan Steel provided one part of a gymnastics presentation.

3 FINE MUSIC was provided by the St. Olaf Band.

4 SUMMER TRAVELS ABROAD were recounted by these YFU students.

Haugen, Maurer elected to 2nd semester offices

In a pre-Christmas election, three pairs of candidates entered the race for student body president and vice-president. The nomination speeches over the sound system revealed that Wade Hauser and Tom Thompson, Chris Haugen and Chuck Maurer and Peg Israel and Jim Neal were the candidates. After the nomination speeches formally opened the week of campaigning, the halls of AHS gained new interest with psychedelic, flower and story-telling signs. Students received buttons and copies of platforms.

Although the campaigning was centered in the school itself, candidates held sessions in homes, designing posters, constructing platforms and lining up supporters. The night before the election assembly saw candidates writing last-minute speeches and planning skits.

The climax of the election came when the candidates confronted the entire student body at the election assembly. From the voting that followed, Chris Haugen and Chuck Maurer were elected student body president and vice-president.

5 THE ARTISTIC ABILITY of candidates and their supporters was employed in creating and striking posters.

6 THE SHORTEST and only girl candidate, Peg Israel, had a definite disadvantage when it came to putting up posters.

1 ON THE MORNING of the election assembly and voting, students were greeted by huge portraits of Chris and Chuck outside the main school entrance.

Brass, woodwind and strings combined to become a talented orchestra at Ames High this year. Six players represented the school in the All-State Orchestra last fall. Mr. Stanley Closs, director, said he was pleased to be able to present music of much finer quality than in previous years. In addition to the 36-piece orchestra, a smaller chamber orchestra was newly formed this year. These eight musicians played for numerous meetings and conventions around central Iowa.

Prominent drama students participate in Palm Club

For those interested in dramatics, the well-established AHS Drama Department offered beginning and advanced classes, which met three times a week. Drama students, when not producing a play, studied makeup, lighting and other technical aspects of the theater, as well as methods of acting and directing. Through classroom participation and work on plays, outstanding second and third year students became members of Palm Club, the drama honorary.

1 THE ENTIRE HANSON FAMILY was enthralled with the emotional reading of the mysterious Mr. Hyde.

2 PRODUCTION CREWS COMBINED with the actors to make I Remember Mama a technical and dramatic achievement.

A delightful comedy about an immigrant family during the early 1900's opened the 1967-68 season of the AHS Drama Department. In the play, I Remember Mama, by John Van Druten, the eldest daughter of the family, Katrin, reminisces about her unusual family and mother.

I Remember Mama proved to be a difficult play for both actors and technical crews. The setting of the play required old-fashioned costumes, furniture and props. Complicated lighting effects were used for "flashback" scenes and for scene changes.

- 1 A TENDER SCENE in which Mama's unselfishness is revealed was enacted by Betty Jo Burnet, Mary Jo Patterson and Jeff Fredericks.
- 2 ACTORS LINE UP to receive the finishing touches on their makeup from Mr. Zitzlsperger.
- 3 BACKSTAGE the props crew was occupied with moving heavy furniture, changing sets and handling over 200 props.

The mistaken identities of a young woman and her brother in William Shakespeare's Twelfth Night made the play a hilarious romantic comedy. Ridiculous, but often thought-provoking characters and incidents were combined in a complicated, five-act plot.

The AHS drama department presented the Shakespearean play as the senior class play. Written in blank verse with no stage directions, Twelfth Night challenged the acting abilities of those who appeared in it.

Journalists meet deadlines

1 SATURDAYS find Mrs. Bauske and the Web staff hard at work in room 307.

2 NO MISTAKES ALLOWED, so Nancy Houge scrutinizes her story carefully.

3 REALIZING FACTUAL REPORTING is extremely important, Pam Barr and Vee Hazen check details of their stories.

The journalism student's week began on Friday, when assignments were given. The next several days were filled with endless hours of interviewing, writing and revising. The articles, typed on yellow newsprint, were copyread for errors in grammar and style. The size of the article was determined and put into the layout. The page was then set by the Ames Daily Tribune. One Tuesday morning trip to the Tribune to proofread was a requirement this year. Tuesday evening publication brought satisfaction and misery to staff members. After Tuesday, students had a short rest until assignments were given for the next week.

- 1 LEARNING THE ROPES of the press includes head assignments by layout editors Nancy Landon, Jeff Fredericks and Ann Dumenil.

Spirit sales top record; color used first time

As final deadline loomed ominously near, the Spirit's statisticians were at work: 1060 books ordered, the most ever; 235 rolls of film shot, developed, contacted, and filed; a color section included for the first time. Not catalogued were the weekend hours spent, the crises met and resolved, the slogans and jokes—"Avoid solution pollution!", "Down with swimmers!" "Gary loves Jane and vice versa"—the diversions that make a year on Spirit something always to be remembered.

- 1 THE EDITOR PONDERs a problem. Susan Bunce concentrates on some copy.

Letter winners revive A-Club, promote sportsmanship

The A-Club was revived after an absence of two years. The purpose of the organization is to "promote, support and sponsor good athletics" and to maintain "good academic standing, morals and sportsmanlike conduct of Ames High athletes." Regular A-Club meetings were held, officers elected and projects started. The club sold refreshments at several athletic events to raise funds for future activities.

Tours, exhibits, projects make up Art Club

The Art Club consisted of an informal organization of students interested in developing a greater appreciation of art. Working individually with assistance from the sponsor, Mr. Jonas, the students created imaginative original art forms. Field trips to galleries such as the Art Shed enabled Art Club members to study the works of others.

DECA, OE, VICA develop sense of business world

DECA, VICA, and OE offered a valuable service to seniors wishing to learn about forms of business administration. DECA provided its members with on-the-job training in business establishments throughout Ames. Students in Office Education worked under similar practical conditions as secretaries and office assistants. VICA functioned to create industrial vocational training for seniors. All three vocational education programs carried on group activities throughout the year.

Students offer services in varied departments

Many students gave up free time and study halls to work in various departments at Ames High. Several boys kept track and took care of the audio-visual equipment each period. The office staff was aided by girls who collected absence slips, stamped passes, answered the phone and ran various errands. Cafeteria workers assisted the kitchen staff in serving and cleaning up at noon.

Fire Squad, led by President Charles Maurer and Vice-President Chris Haugen, kept order in and around the school. Their activities included superintending the lunch line and patrolling the parking lot for violators. Second semester hall monitors merged with Fire Squad, giving better and more efficient attention to students' transgressions.

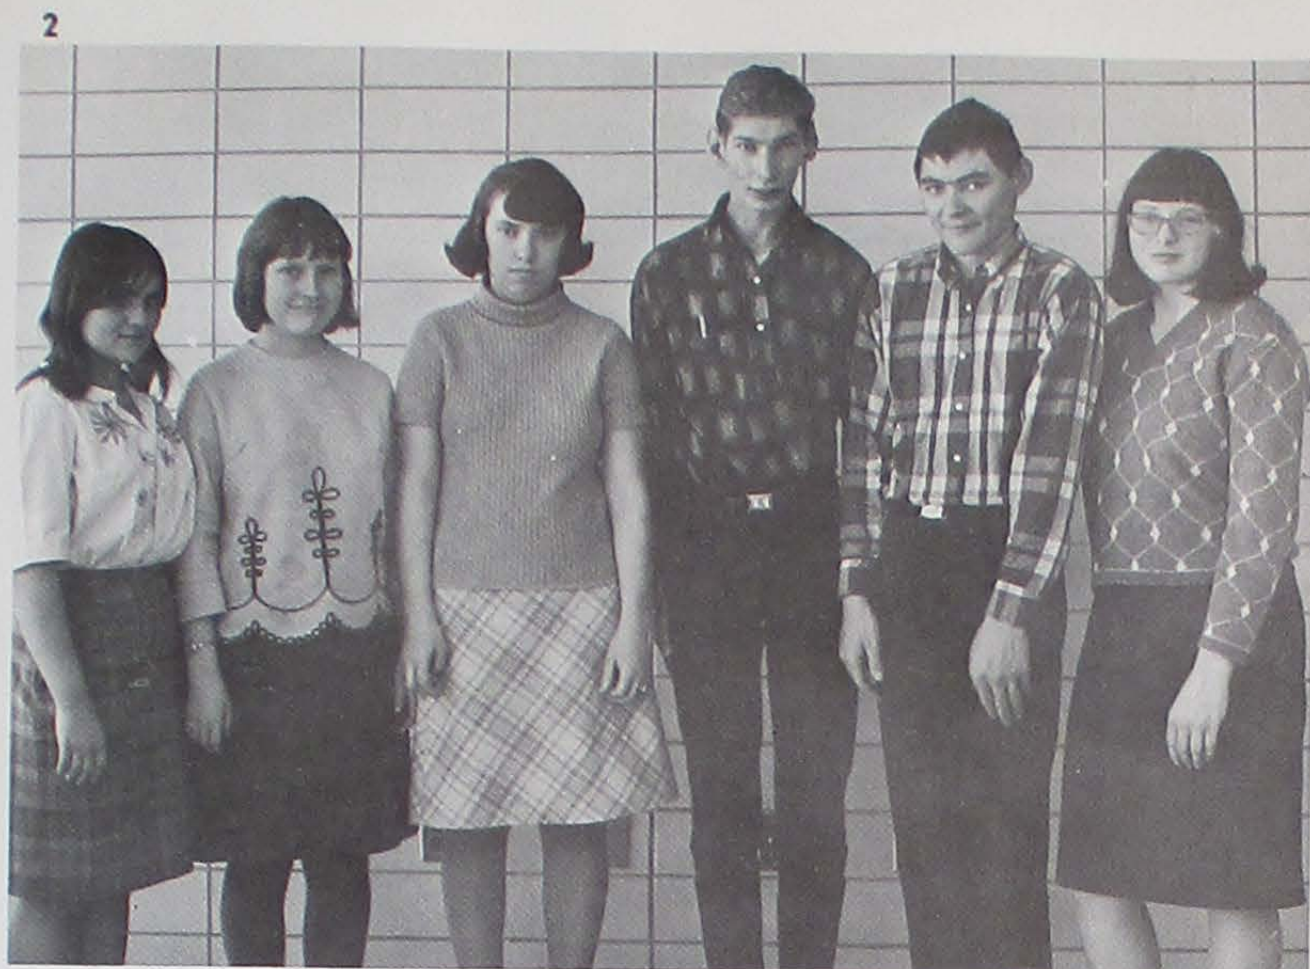

1 OFFICE HELP included checking schedules as shown by Claudia DuBois.

2 AUDIO-VISUAL AIDES: Mr. MacBride, Richard Patterson, Daryl Simonson, Craig Morris, Mike Morgan, Kosta Costantine, Mark Smith, Pryor Ward.

Ames raced to its first perfect cross country season this year. Four returning lettermen combined with an outstanding group of underclassmen to provide the spark for the Little Cyclones' success.

Greg Dengler and Dave Powell placed first and second as Ames took the CIC Mile Team Race September 23. Ames put five runners in the first eight to defeat defending champion Marshalltown. A week later the Little Cyclones won the State AAAA Mile Team Race, again turning back Marshalltown and West Waterloo in a field of 81 runners.

Ames finished first of 13 teams to win the 1.5-mile Mike Augustine Invitational October 14, the first cross-country meet of the year. Powell was first, Dengler second, Chuck Maurer fourth and Tom Montag fifth as Ames won its first Augustine in the meet's history. The Little Cyclones maintained their momentum a week later by winning the CIC Cross-Country at Newton, completing their conference sweep. The last meet of the season was the State AAA Cross-Country at Marshalltown. Ames battled cold, a snowy course and 18 other teams, but finished first.

As Coach Millikin said after the CIC Mile Team Race, "All the boys competed well."

Ames hustles to 7-2 record

Ames roared to a 7-2 record this season, the best of seven years. The Little Cyclones closed out their final year in the CIC by tying for the conference championship.

Chris Haugen made second team All-State while Don Agard, Dave Bliss, Dan Craig and Steve Wearth received Honorable Mention. Haugen and Bliss, who served as co-captains, were All Conference selections along with Wearth. Agard, Owen Austrheim and Dave Stucky were second team CIC, and John Carpenter and Rich Engelhardt were third.

The Little Cyclones opened the season by crushing D.M. Tech 54-7. Dennis Healy and Lyle Scandrett scored twice, and Engelhardt, Carpenter, Conrad Anderson, and Steve Lovely once, while Austrheim kicked five extra points and Bliss ran one. Stucky, Bob Hamilton and Anderson led the defense.

Ames retained the Victory Bell with a 28-13 win over Boone. Engelhardt, Bliss, Scandrett and Haugen each scored once, and Austrheim kicked four conversions. Haugen, Agard, Stucky and Wearth were high in tackles.

1 THE "CHAIN GANG" for home games was Ron Peters and Gordy Accola.

2 LATTA PULLS back to protect the punter from the Roosevelt rush.

- 4 CRAIG (21) PASSES to Pepper (42) in the Roosevelt game. Baird (55) and Lovely (26) protect.

Ames set several records in a 75-13 drubbing of Newton. Carpenter tallied three times, Engelhardt and Don Page twice, and Scandrett and Healy once as Austrheim converted nine times. Carpenter, Doug Fincham and Steve Siedelman paced the defense, which outgained Newton 583-189 yards.

The Little Cyclones won their first Homecoming game in seven years in a 28-27 thriller against D.M. Lincoln. Healy scored on a 70-yard pass from Craig in the first quarter, and Bliss scored twice on long runs to knot the score at halftime 21-21. Lincoln went ahead in the third period 26-21, but missed the PAT. Bliss scored again and Owen Austrheim kicked his fourth extra point to give Ames the margin of victory.

Marshalltown almost knocked Ames out of the conference race in a game played at Marshalltown, but Austrheim's five-yard field goal in the fourth period gave Ames the victory. The Little Cyclones then tied Grinnell for the CIC championship in their final conference game by blanking Oskaloosa 37-0.

Bliss led all rushers for the season, gaining 335 yards in 56 carries for a 6.0 average. He was followed by Engelhardt and Lovely with 5.4 averages and Austrheim with 5.1. Craig completed 35 of 90 passes for over 800 yards. Haugen was the leading receiver with 321 yards in 17 catches followed by Healy and Bliss. Leading tacklers were Haugen (8.5 points per game), Stucky (6.5), Agard (5.5), and Siedelman and Carpenter (5.5). In total offense it was Ames: 2,823 yards—opponents: 1,496 yards.

Wrestlers finish first in CIC;

"We had some really fine boys this year," Coach Jack Mendenhall said at the close of the wrestling season. "I expected a great season, and they gave me one." Rolling over ten opponents in dual meets, the Little Cyclones were champions of the CIC Meet and the Sectional Tournament. Owen Austrheim remained undefeated during the regular season and was 127-lb. champion of the CIC, Audubon, Corning, Sectional, and District Tournaments. Steve Wearth was champion of the CIC, Corning, Sectional and District, and Chris Haugen was first in the CIC, Audubon and Sectional. Jim Pepper, a 170-lb. heavyweight, battled bulkier opponents all year and finished second in the CIC behind the undefeated champion who outweighed him by 120 lbs.

Trackmen train for spring meets

Dedicated Ames trackmen, under the guidance of Coaches Harlan Millikin and Hi Covey, trudged through the snow and cold to prepare for the coming spring season. Following Christmas vacation, the prospective thinclads attended nightly and Saturday morning workouts.

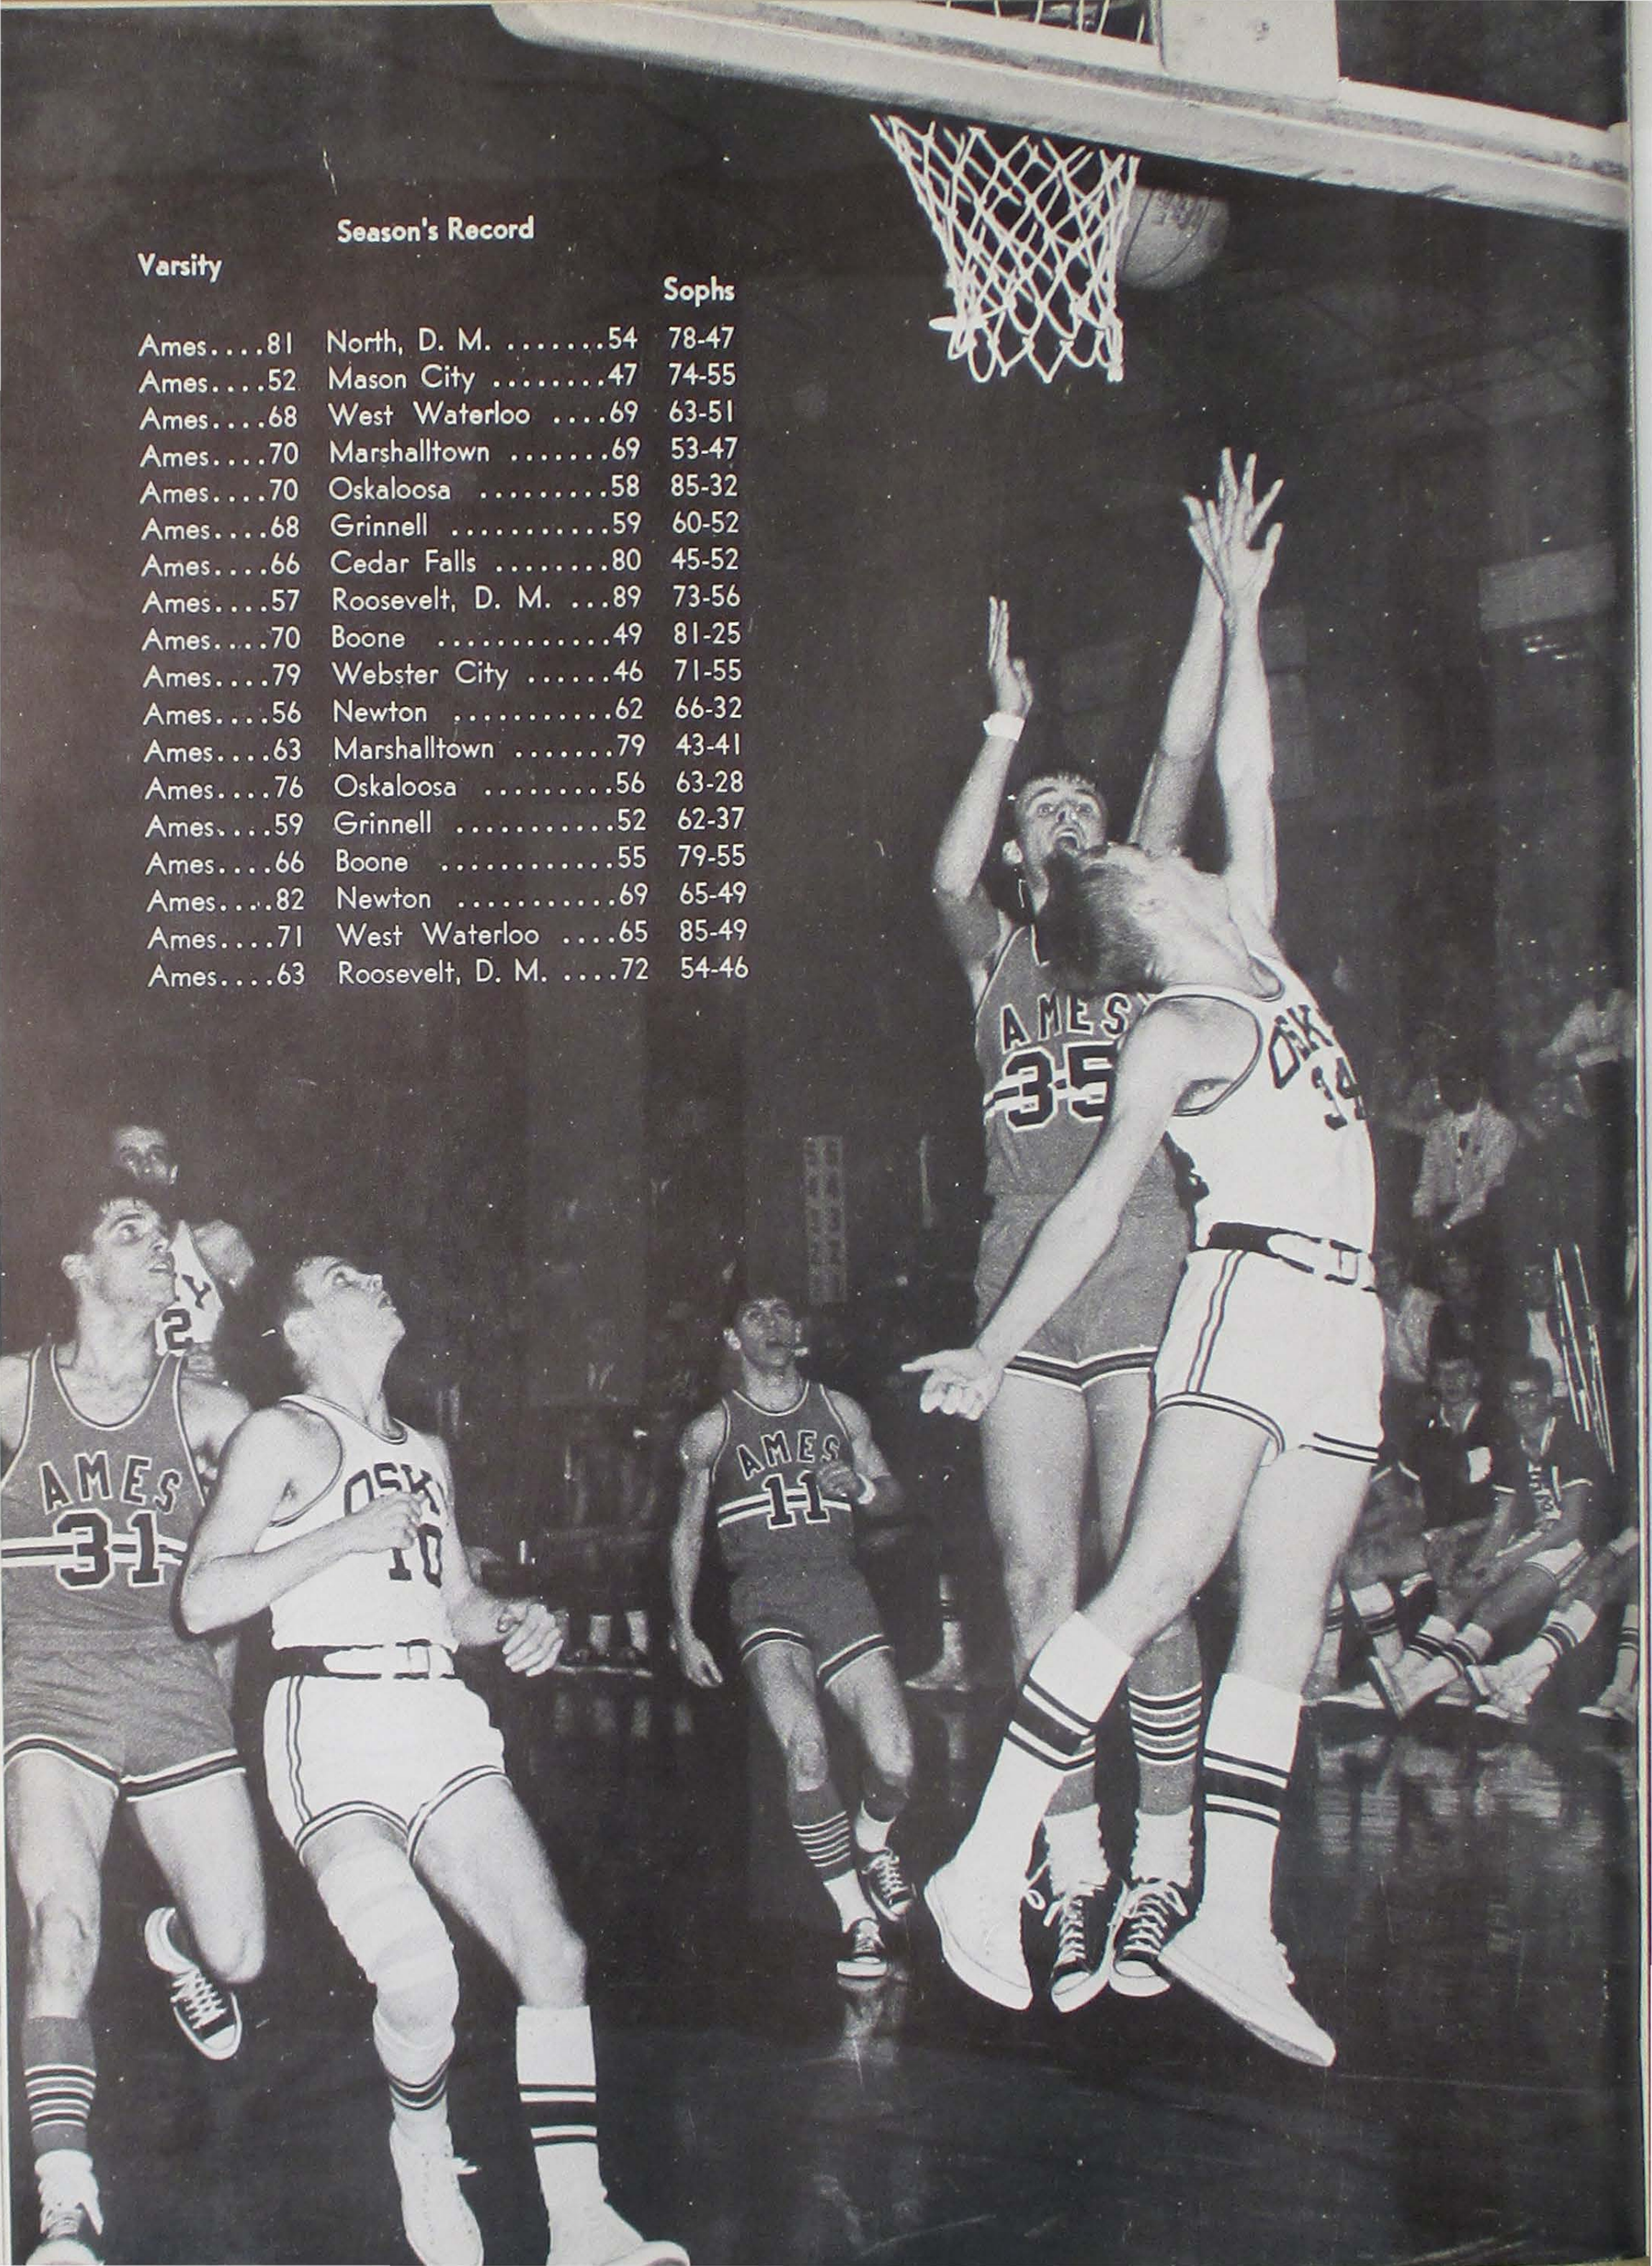

Mr. Covey assisted this winter in the coaching tasks. He concentrated his efforts on the field events, while Mr. Millikin worked with the runners.

Although the track was not completed after being resurfaced, the trackmen worked hard on the gym floor at the State Gym to prepare for the State Indoor in late March, as well as the spring season.

- 2 QUICK STARTS are essential in track. Indoor track builds a base for spring.
- 3 "ALL WORK and no play makes track a dull sport."
- 4 "WHAT'S THAT, TOM?" Coach Millikin consoles Tom Thompson during indoor practice.

Ames record 12-6; first in conference

The Little Cyclones battled to a 12-6 record this season, finishing in a tie for first place in the CIC. Rick Engel and Dave Bliss were All-Conference selections, and Don Agard made the third team CIC.

Ames opened the season on November 22 by swamping North, D. M., 81-54. Agard scored 27 points and Engel 21, as Bliss grabbed 13 rebounds. Mason City almost upset Ames November 24, but the Little Cyclones shot 69% in the fourth quarter to overcome a 10-point deficit and win, 52-47. Agard's 21 points and Engel's 12 led Ames, while Bliss had 17 rebounds and Engel and Dave Riley 13.

The Little Cyclones edged by Marshalltown in their first conference game on December 8. Agard scored 18 points in the first half to keep Ames in front, 38-30, but the Bobcats closed the gap in the fourth quarter, and it took a basket by Engel with eight seconds left for Ames to win. Agard scored 23, Engel 19, while Bliss led the rebounders with 13. Both teams made 26 of 47 field goals and attempted 28 free throws.

Ames lost its second game of the season at Cedar Falls on December 23. Engel scored 31 and Agard 13 before they fouled out of the rugged game. The Little Cyclones trailed by eight in the first quarter, then closed to 47-46 on a free throw by Bliss. Engel scored 14 of Ames' 16 points in the third quarter and had 10 rebounds. Bliss had 12 rebounds and 18 points in the 80-66 defeat.

Ames moved its CIC mark to 6-2 by downing Grinnell on February 2. The Tigers led by 12 in the first quarter, but Ames bounced back to lead at halftime, 28-23. Grinnell tied the score at 31-all and again at 51-all, but a basket by Engel put Ames in front. Engel scored 18, Jim Ryan 15 and Bliss 11. Engel had 18 rebounds and Bliss 14.

The Little Cyclones' hopes for a CIC title had faded during midseason when they were beaten on consecutive weekends by Newton and Marshalltown. On February 15 Ames was in second place with a 7-2 record and only one conference game remaining. Marshalltown was leading the league with an 8-1 record, having lost only to Ames. Then Oskaloosa, which had lost 23 straight CIC contests, upset the eighth ranked Bobcats, 69-58. The following night Ames beat Newton 82-69 behind Engel's 28, Agard's 12 and Bliss's and Ryan's 10, thus tying for the CIC crown.

On February 23 Ames revenged its earlier loss to West Waterloo. The Little Cyclones trailed 11-17 at the quarter. During the second quarter, however, they shot 69% to tie the score at the half, 36-all. The score was again tied at 58-all with five minutes left before Ames pulled away to win, 71-65. Engel scored 29 and had 16 rebounds while Ryan had 9.

Desire couldn't make the difference as Ames lost its last game of the season to Roosevelt, 72-63. It was the Little Cyclones' first loss in the new gym and broke a home-court winning streak of 15. Agard scored 20, Engel 16, as Bliss pulled down 13 rebounds against the taller Riders.

Sophs combine height, talent for 17-1 record

Outscoring their opponents 1200-699, the sophomore basketball team rolled up an impressive 17-1 record. Considering that three starters moved up to the varsity at mid-season, this accomplishment is even more remarkable. The Little Cyclones out-rebounded their opponents 802-517 and shot 40.6% from the field compared to 35.6%. At the free throw line, however, it was Ames: 49.4%; opponents, 49.9%.

Doug Fosberg led all scorers with 248 points for a 13.8 average. Chuck Knabe averaged 11.3 before joining the varsity for the February 9 Boone game, and Tim Linder was scoring 11.1 points per game when he moved up for the January 5 Boone contest. Fosberg had 9.1 rebounds a game; Scott Burgason rebounded 8.6 per game before moving up for the January 26 Oskaloosa game; and Knabe had 7.3. Paul McFarland shot at a 50% pace from the field, and Chris Dvergsten hit at 60% from the free-throw line to lead the team.

2 TOUGH DEFENSE such as this enabled the sophomores to defeat 17 opponents. Pressing are Knabe (51), Hildebrand (45) and Myers (25).

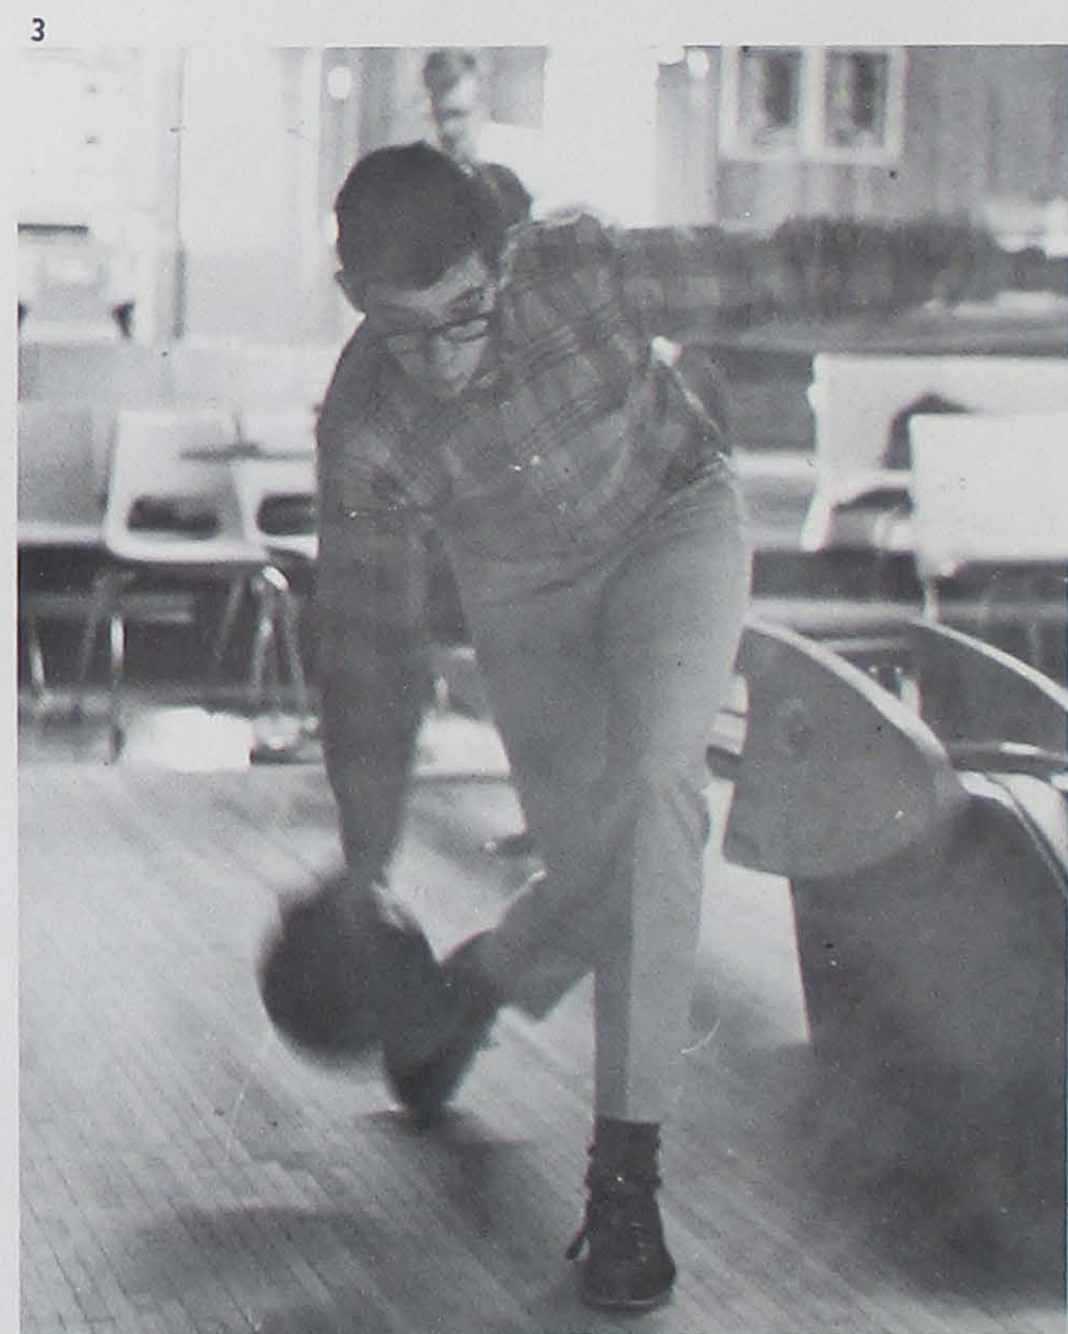

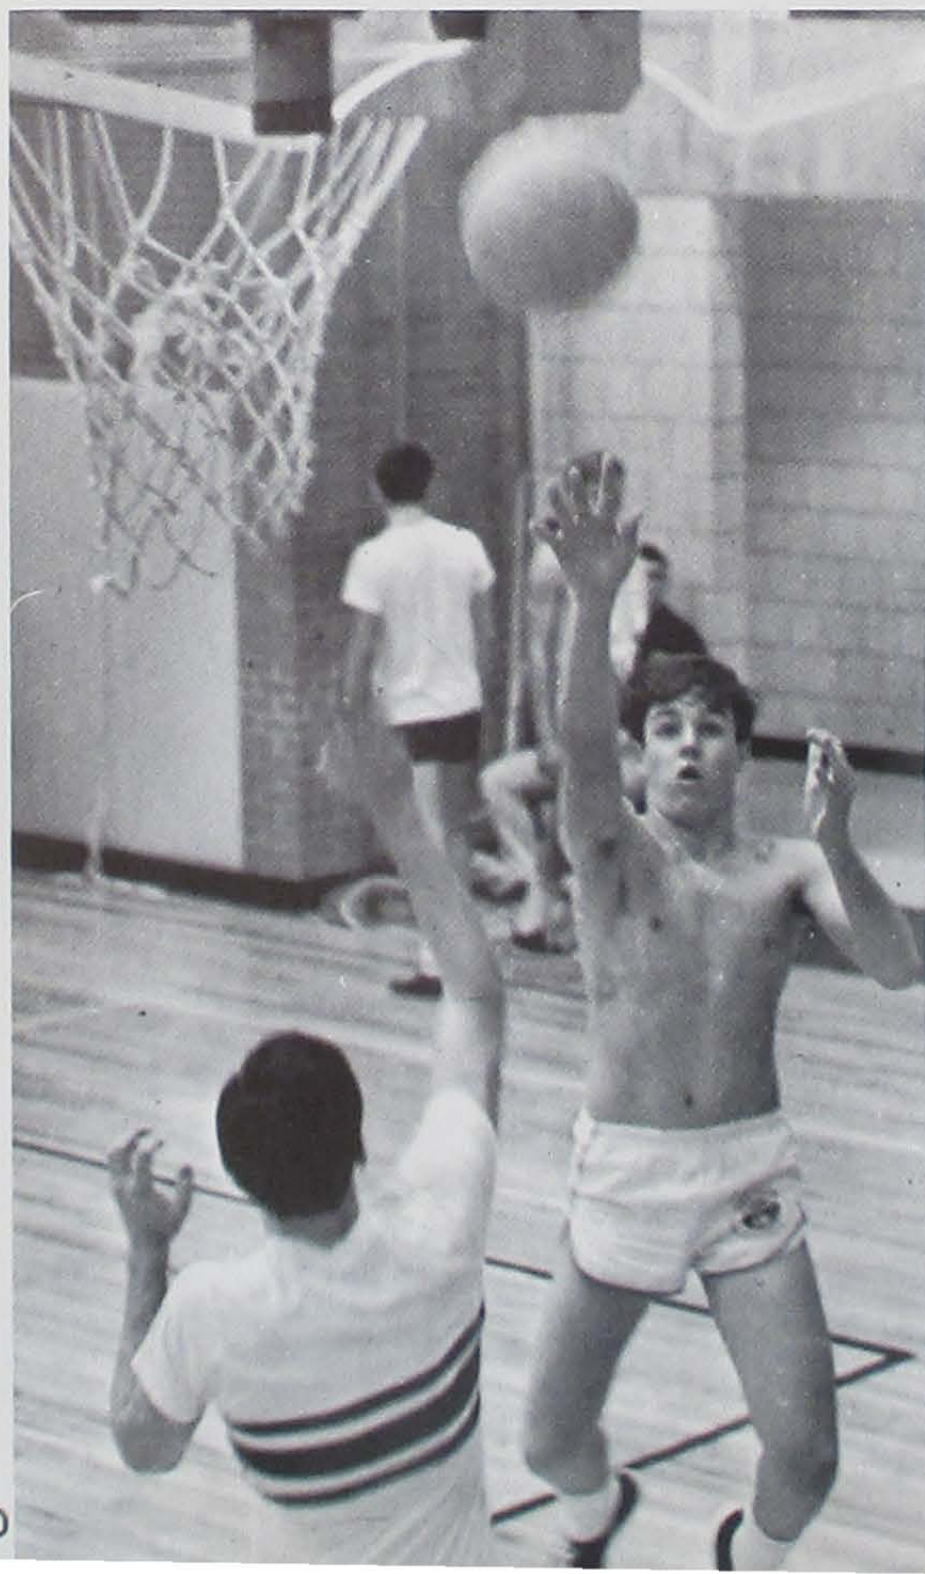

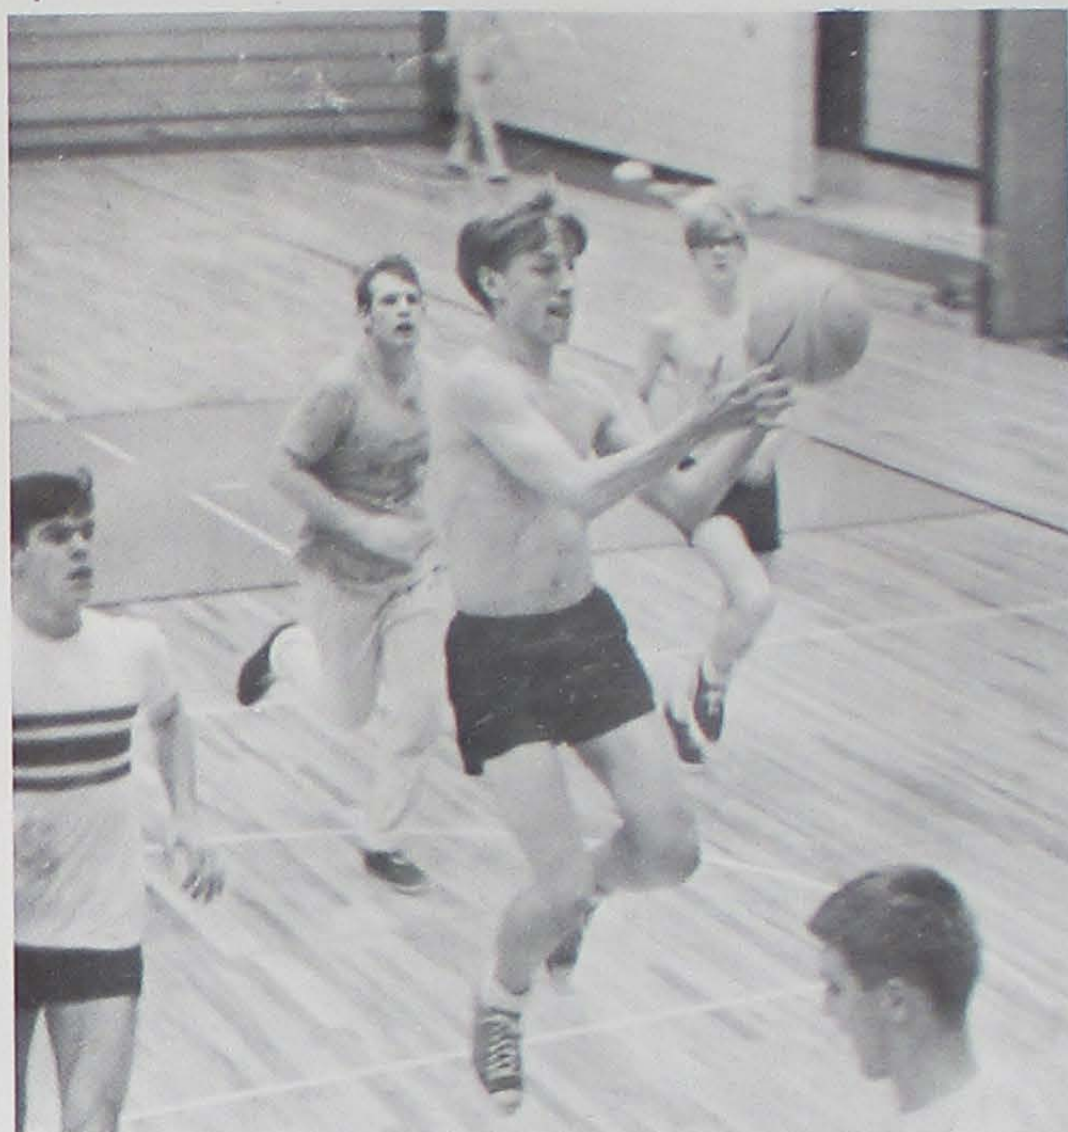

Increased participation sparks boys' intramurals

An active interest in sports among non-varsity boys created a competitive intramural program. Wrestling, basketball, cross-country, football, swimming, bowling, tennis and golf were offered, with swimming, wrestling and basketball the most popular. New facilities and more convenient times for play were reasons for increased participation.

Synchronettes write numbers, create water show

After spending the first semester perfecting strokes and learning stunts, the Synchronettes prepared their spring water show. Members of the advanced section of the swimmers wrote fifteen numbers for the show, based on world travel. Directed by Mrs. Anne Jacobson, the Synchronettes practiced many hours to make the second annual water show a success.

- 1 PRECISE, RHYTHMIC and controlled movements were necessary for the routines performed by the Synchronettes.
- 2 ASSISTING IN THE PLANNING of Synchronette activities were officers Martha Anderson (treasurer), Kathy McIntire (secretary), Sheryl Moore (vice-president) and Nancy Schloerke (president).
- 3 AN UNUSUAL HEADPIECE was tried on Susan Ingvaldstad by Mrs. Inge Herigstad, who created elaborate costumes and millinery for the synchronized swimming show.

Largest GRA in history keeps the girls in shape

One third of the Ames High girls joined to make this year's GRA the largest in the history of the organization. The girls participated in basketball, volleyball, bowling and softball tournaments throughout the year, and traveled to watch the Iowa girls' basketball tournament in Des Moines. In addition, the ever-popular GRA tee-shirt sales reached an all-time high.

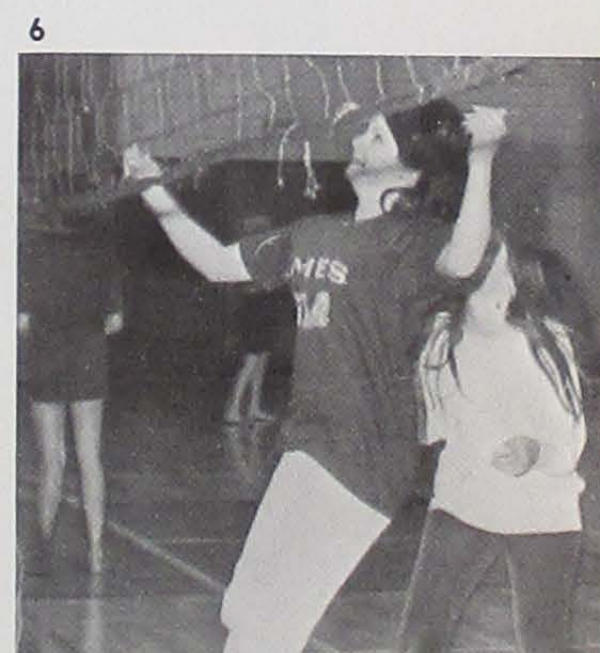

1 BOWLING interested many girls this winter.

25 cheerleaders boost school spirit

Being on cheersquad required hard work, precision, and a good voice for singing announcements. Two weekly practices were held for the following weekend's game or meet. These twenty-five girls also kept AHS notified of the results of all athletic events. Through noontime and homeroom singing announcements and pep assemblies they kept the spirit running at its peak. The wrestling cheerleaders expanded to include swimming, track, golf and tennis, and the sophomore squad cheered at junior varsity games, creating a larger coverage of Ames High sports.

Pep Club inspires spirit in AHS sports

More than one half the girls in Ames High were members of the Pep Club this year. Regular meetings of the cabinet and representatives were held on alternating Tuesday mornings.

Besides raising spirit and supporting the athletic events, the girls actively contributed to bake sales, sign painting, decorating lockers, participated in Homecoming activities and pep assembly skits.

Key Club builds at AHS

Key Club, a Kiwanis-sponsored service organization for high school boys, is still growing at Ames High. Its purpose is to do service for the school and community. Activities this year included directing cars at football games, running the party concessions and taking care of the windbreak planted last year west of the stadium. They also helped with several Kiwanis projects such as the annual Pancake Day. Future plans include helping build the Ames High student lounge.

- 2 SCINTILLATING PROGRAMS were presented at the bi-weekly meetings.
- 3 SERVING ORANGE JUICE at Pancake Day was one of many activities in which Key Clubbers such as Bob Overhulser took part.

Annual activities of Girls Club included the Big Sis-Little Sis program, the Sophomore Style Show, Junior Dad-Daughter Date Night, and a spring tea for senior girls and their mothers. The Christmas spray and wreath sale helped support the foster child Emelda. Observance of Brotherhood Week was revived at AHS after an interval of four years.

One of the major projects of Boys Club was to co-sponsor, with Student Council, the $1000 drive to build a school in Peru.

Student Council raises money for school in Peru

In one of its most active years, the Ames High Student Council presented a weekly radio program, raised $1000 to build a school in Peru, stimulated school board action in establishing a student lounge and sponsored a basketball game with the Phillips 66 Oilers.

First semester officers were Dick Vohs (president), Bob Hamilton (vice-president), Jane Engeldinger (secretary), Jim Walter (treasurer) and Peter McNabb (parliamentarian). The new officers elected for second semester were Chris Haugen (president) and Chuck Maurer (vice-president).

AHS holds exchange with Missouri school

An exchange with Clayton High School in Missouri gave nine AHS students and Mr. William Ripp a view of modular scheduling, an innovation in education. While visiting the St. Louis suburb, the exchangees toured McDonnell Aircraft Company, among other places. Twenty Clayton students were guests in Ames for nine days. Besides seeing the Synchronettes' show and a track meet, they visited ISU and the National Animal Disease Laboratory.

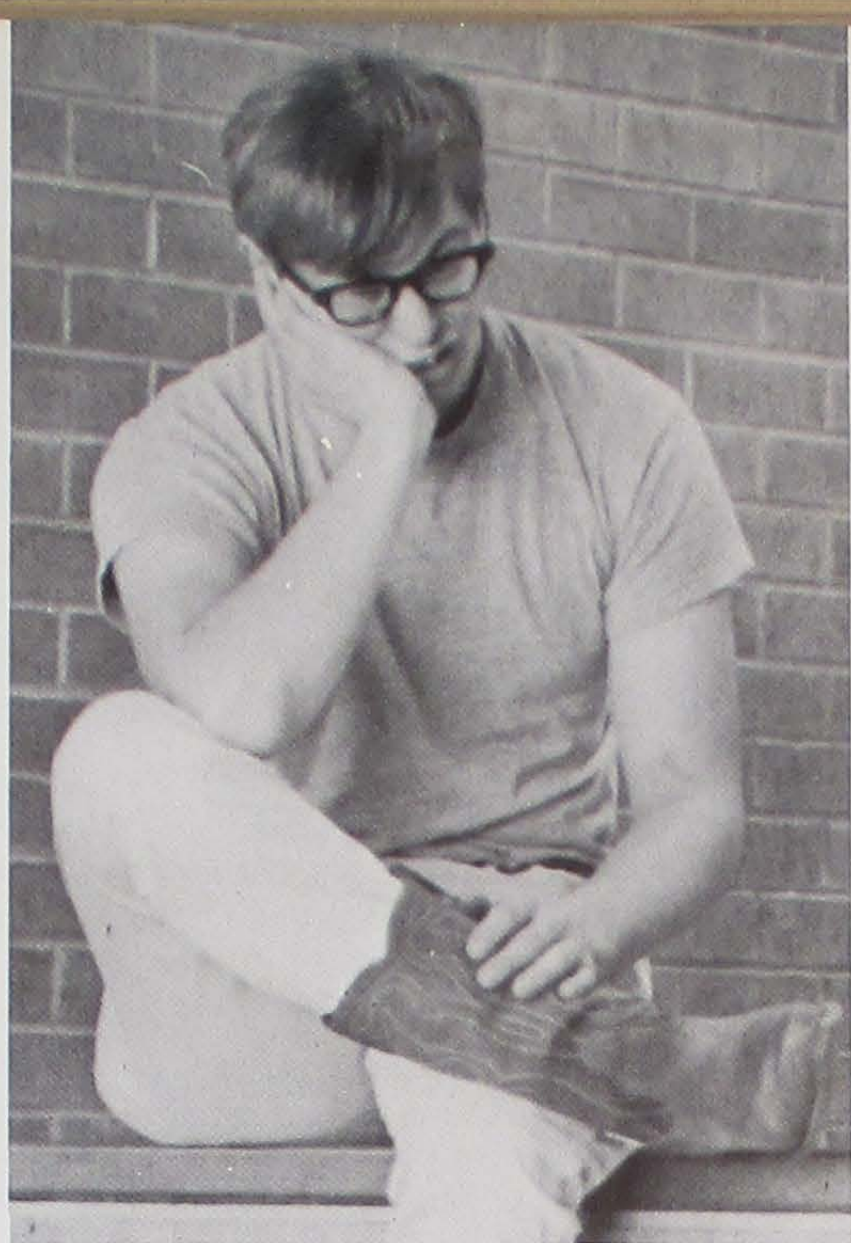

- 1 BY EXAMINING the 1967 Clayton yearbook, Josh Sharlin and Mark Mathison learned about activities at the Missouri school.
- 2 AMES HIGH SENT nine students, Steve Donhowe, Susan Bunce, Clay Bauske, Joan Iverson, Dick Vohs, Bonnie Voelker, Karl Schloerke, Jacquie Larsen and Dennis Healy, to Clayton for the exchange.
- 3 THE FIVE MEMBERS of the Exchange Committee, Kirk Geist, Mary Hazen, Jim Walter, Julie Cook and Tim Potts, were responsible for the planning of the exchange with Clayton High School.

School Board investigates further plant expansion

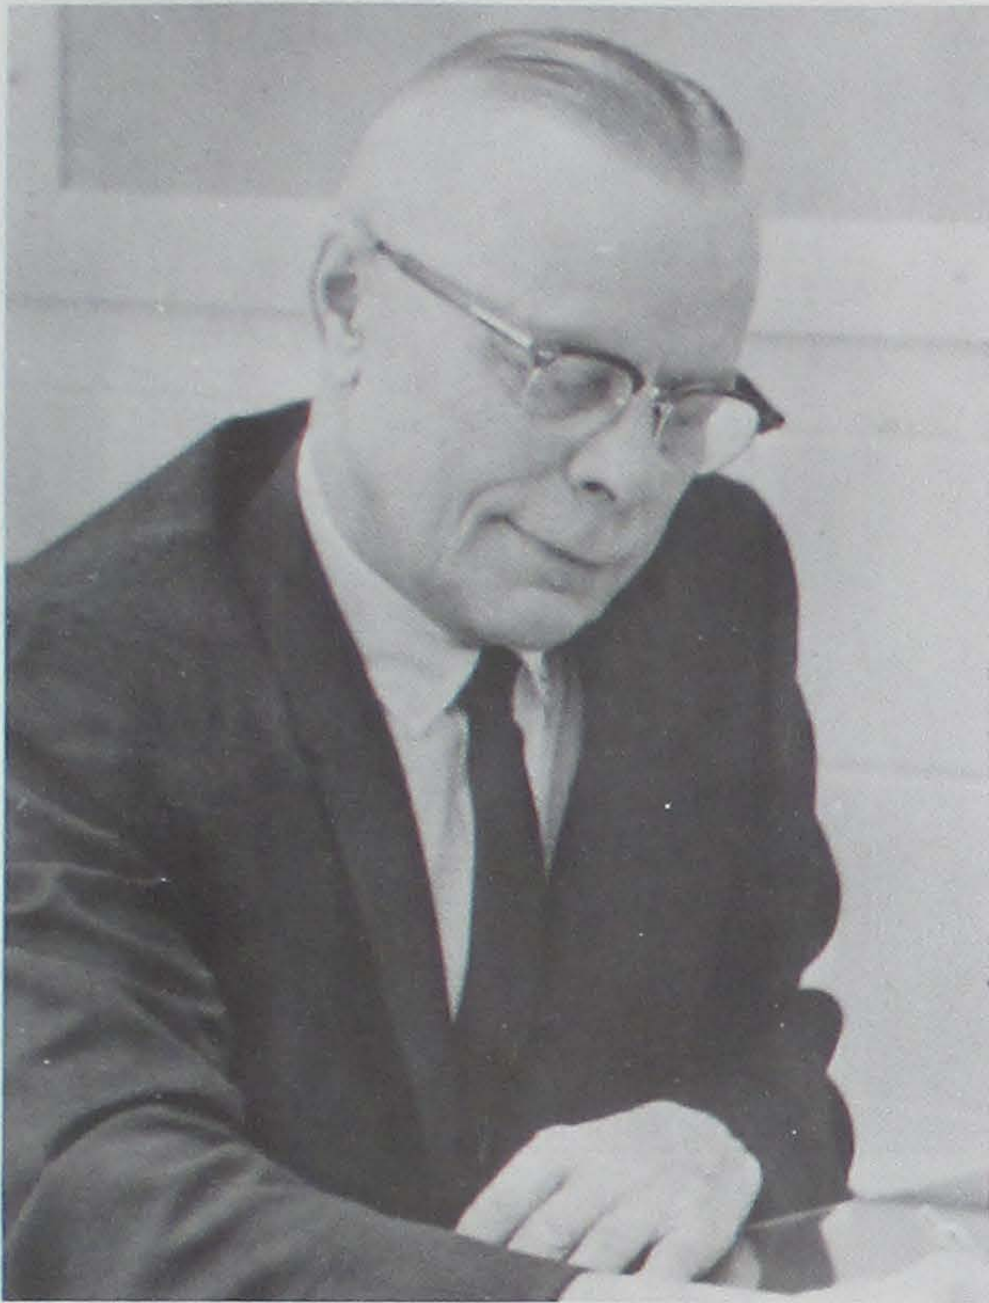

Under the direction of the Ames Board of Education and Mr. Walter Hetzel, superintendent of schools, the Ames school system maintains one senior high, two junior highs and thirteen elementary schools. In order to provide the high level of education existing in the Ames schools, the board has devoted more time and funds toward planning a new junior high school, remodeling present facilities, and revising the curriculum.

Administrators carry school responsibilities

Mr. Herbert Adams, Mr. Everett Ritland and Mrs. Charlotte Whitney form the administrative triumvirate of Ames High School. Mr. Adams is in his twenty-fourth year as principal and is assisted with the many responsibilities of administration by Mr. Ritland, vice-principal. Together they try to establish policies which will effectively fulfill the needs of both students and teachers. Mrs. Whitney serves as the girls' advisor and as head of the guidance department. She helps Mr. Adams and Mr. Ritland in the job of managing a school of more than 1200 students.

7 counselors help students plan future educations

The guidance department works to personalize the educational program at Ames High. The goal is to help each individual in the student body become the best person he is capable of becoming. Counselors assist each individual to know his special talents, aptitudes and interests, besides giving him information about training and opportunities in the world outside the high school. The service has as its main features a system of cumulative record keeping, an adequate testing program, individual counseling, presentations of information to groups, college and careers department in the school library and vocational exploration.

Library adds 1,000 new books

In order to make resource and reading material available to students and teachers, the library has a new handbook for library procedures. In addition, English, social studies and other classes hold class in the library and are given special instructions by the librarians regarding efficient usage of reference books and the location of information for reports and research papers. One thousand new books, including reference volumes for most of the subjects taught at Ames High, supplement the library's resources. The librarian and her assistants also enrich the curriculum by providing bibliographies, pamphlets and other resources.

English courses offer students many choices

The English department strives to give all students the opportunity to choose courses which meet their needs. Besides honors courses at all three grade levels, the department offers English 10, English 11 and American literature at the junior level, developmental reading and, at the senior level, English literature, world literature, journalism, and English 12, newly revised this year.

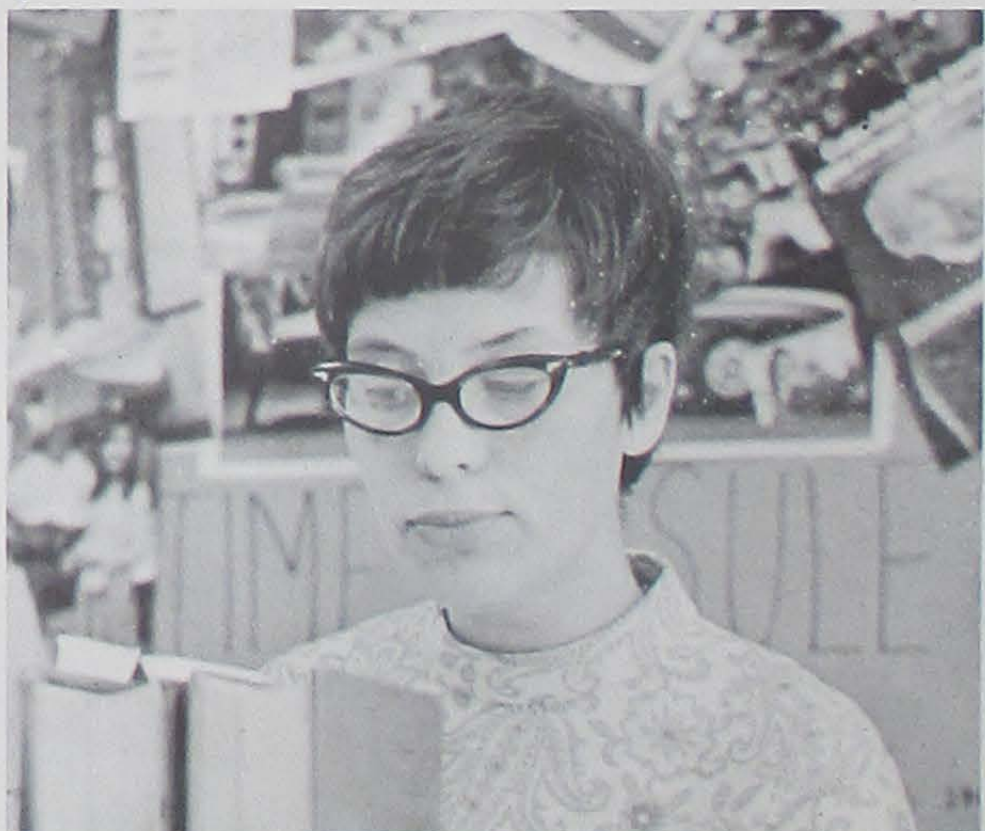

Three sophomore classes are experimenting with different textbooks as a preliminary to ordering new ones next year. Last year's innovation of English 11 classes is being continued.

AHS revamps speech program

An experimental speech program highlights the English department this year. All sophomores are required to take the course, but instead of attending speech class one day a week for the entire year, students take speech every day for three weeks at a time. This system is intended to provide a better organized and unified program for sophomore English students.

Fine arts develop students' talents, appreciation

Opportunities to develop many kinds of artistic talents are found in the art and music departments. Art courses, which encompass painting, drawing, sculpturing, art appreciation and art history, enable students to understand and appreciate the skills of artistic creation. The popularity of the art courses has necessitated the addition of another instructor. Musically inclined students are able to express themselves by participating in marching and concert band, orchestra and vocal music. Despite fears the six-period day would cut enrollment in music classes, both vocal and instrumental courses are attended by a large number of students.

Advancements in communication and transportation have drawn countries closer together, making the knowledge of foreign languages increasingly important. At Ames High two-thirds of the student body is becoming acquainted with the cultures and languages of other countries through French, German, Spanish, and Latin classes. The language laboratory, records, films and tape recordings are some of the special aids available to language students. Participation in language clubs also helps students learn and benefit from their experiences with foreign languages.

- 1 MR. ROBERT AMMANN: French, French Club sponsor, assistant hall monitors sponsor.
- 2 MISS JAN OSBORN: Spanish, art, assistant Spanish Club sponsor.

Math enters computer age

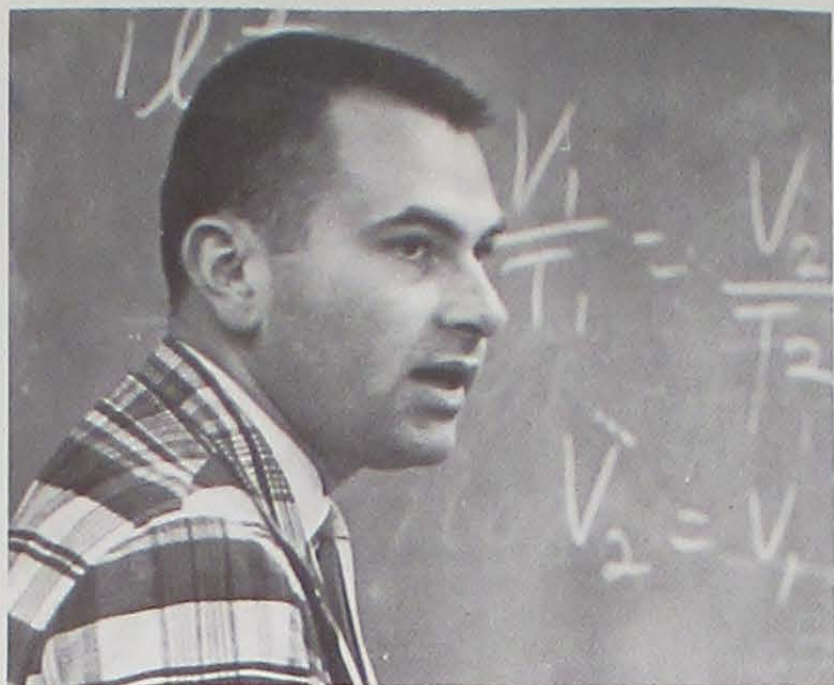

Because mathematics is a basic subject for all students, the math department offers a variety of courses, ranging from applied math to probability and statistics. The math courses are designed to teach the fundamental concepts of mathematics, since this knowledge is needed in all vocational and professional fields. Students interested in advanced study in math and science have the opportunity to take advanced and enriched math courses.

A newly organized math club promotes further exploration in the area of mathematics. It provides a chance for the math enthusiast to match his skills with those of the teacher. Programming the new satellite computer also challenges the students in the club.

- 1 MRS. CAROLYN IVERSON: algebra.
- 2 MR. BOB IMPECOVEN: applied and business math, algebra, assistant football coach, assistant wrestling coach, assistant track coach, junior varsity baseball coach, cafeteria supervisor.

Science labs take students into new worlds of discovery

Excellent laboratory facilities promote the excitement of scientific experimentation at Ames High. Students are introduced to three basic areas of science, biology, physics and chemistry, which provide a broad background for advanced work. To meet varying needs of students, two chemistry courses are now offered. Biology courses are enriched by observations in Ames High's virgin prairie. Science seminar presents opportunities to investigate subjects not covered in the curriculum.

- 1 MR. RICHARD TRUMP: biology, Science Seminar sponsor, head of science department.
- 2 MRS. JEAN CRANE: physics, physical science, Science Seminar sponsor.
- 3 MR. JAMES JONES: physics, algebra, Science Seminar sponsor.
- 4 A HIVE OF BEES in the biology classes fascinates everyone, including Mr. Spratt and Mark Hand.

With the completion of the new gym and pool facilities, both boys' and girls' PE programs are being expanded to include a much greater variety of activities than was previously possible. Physical education classes introduce students to new sports and help them to discover physical activities in which they are interested. Swimming, field hockey, archery, volleyball, creative dance, and ball gymnastics are a few of the activities offered by the PE department, through which students can develop their abilities and become physically fit. Sports and skills which can be enjoyed now and in later years are taught.

- 1 CREATIVE DANCE and volleyball are combined to provide an interesting boys' PE class.
- 2 MR. RAY SMALLING: athletic director, head baseball coach.
- 3 THE SWIMMING POOL makes it possible to compete in such strenuous sports as water polo.

Home economics adds new courses

Five home economics courses important to successful homemaking are offered at AHS. Girls profit from the practical knowledge of sewing, cooking, child care, money management and family living gained from these courses. The home ec program prepares girls for entering related occupations, besides opening doors to advanced study in this field.

Boys study industrial arts

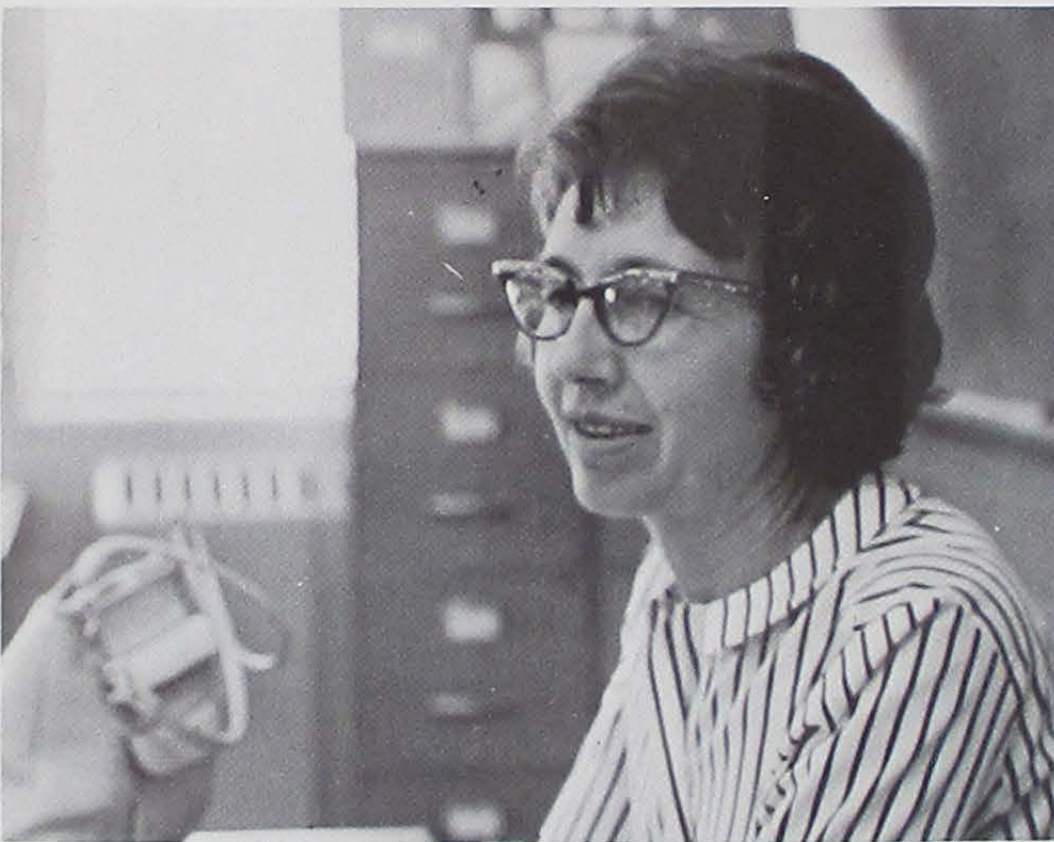

In the industrial arts department, skills valuable in industrial and technical vocations are taught. Students learn how to handle equipment and materials safely while working on original projects. Courses such as woodworking and auto mechanics teach skills needed for purchase and maintenance of industrial products. Drafting courses, beneficial to future engineers, are available for boys not interested solely in technological occupations.

- 1 MR. DON FAAS: auto mechanics, metal shop.
- 2 A NEW ENGINE ANALYZER is used by seniors Dave McNurlen and Gary Rietz in an auto mechanics project.
- 3 MR. EDWIN STONE: drafting, electronics, boys' club sponsor.
- 4 MR. GEORGE MacBRIDE: woodworking, audio visual, junior class sponsor.

Business gives experience, training

Secretarial, accounting, and business law and management courses at Ames High are taken by students as preparation for employment in business. Students also learn business skills such as typing and shorthand for convenience in writing reports, letters and taking notes.

Seniors acquire work experience through distributive industrial and office education programs. Part time jobs and classes related to employment give high school credit along with job training.

1 MR. CHARLES HAVENER: director of industrial education.

2 MR. MERLE GARMAN: business law, typing, finance committee sponsor, hall monitors, assistant sponsor.

Many duties keep staff busy

The office is probably the busiest spot at Ames High, especially before and after school and at noon. At these times the office secretaries are kept busy selling tickets, collecting money and handling sign-up sheets for fan buses. The secretaries, along with their usual administrative duties, help students by dittoing announcements and information for clubs and events.

- 1 OFFICE SECRETARIES: Mrs. Pauline Caldwell, Mrs. Pat Cronk, Mrs. Daisy Flack.
- 2 WELL KNOWN to all students is Mrs. Lois Carr, the attendance secretary.
- 3 ALTHOUGH HER OFFICE is hidden in the guidance area, many students are still able to find Mrs. Barbara Florke, the nurse for the Ames public schools.
- 4 HAVING MISSED the usual crowd of people found in the office, senior Rick Stephens is able to turn in his insurance form to Mrs. Daisy Flack.

Cooks, custodial staff keep school fires burning

Rick Engel heads Senior Class of '68

The fun and excitement of the graduation activities doesn't happen magically. The group of seniors, elected by their homeroom classmates, who assume the responsibility for planning Senior Week is the Senior Senate. Officers this year were Rick Engel, president; Chris Haugen, vice president; Susan Ellis, secretary; and Gay Renee Niemann, treasurer.

Never in Ames High history has a class been such a money-maker. From the projects of their junior year, after the Prom bills were paid, the class was able to reduce the individual senior obligations. In addition to their economic success, the class was scholarly. Of the 368 graduating seniors, 13 were Merit Finalists and 23 were commended students.

Juniors assume traditional task: the prom

Planning and financing of the Junior-Senior Prom is the main responsibility of the Junior Executive Council and the Junior Class. The traditional leaf rakes, Homecoming mum sale, chili suppers, the compiling and selling of student directories and the student faculty basketball game help to meet the main expenses of this year's prom.

Largest soph class ever learns ropes

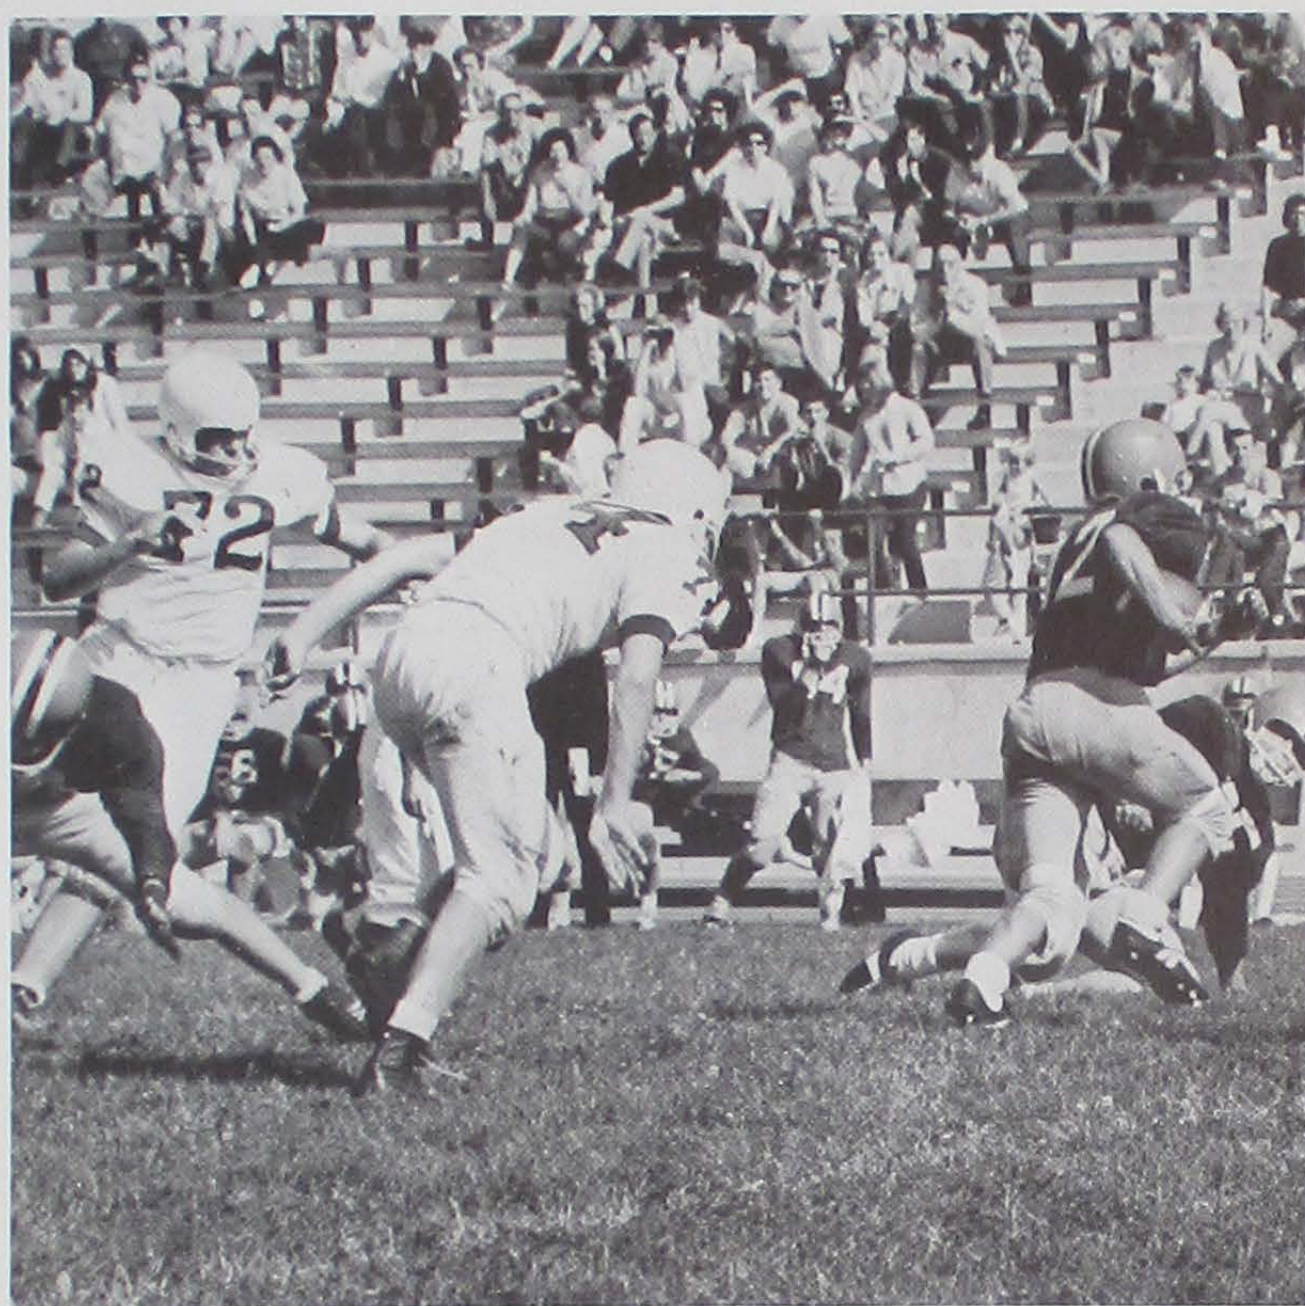

The largest sophomore class in AHS history, totaling 412 students, was inducted into AHS life by participating in sophorientation, football, basketball, track and other activities. There are fifteen soph homerooms this year, compared with the usual twelve.

- 1 SOPH QUARTERBACK Greg Peterson executes an end sweep while Rob Wilson and Mike Owings block Lincoln Railsplitters.
- 2 DAISIES DO TELL of office procedure. Mrs. Daisy Flack explains things to this enthralled group of sophomores.
- 3 ABRACADABRA! Chuck Knabe demonstrates his magical control of the ball.
- 4 "EASY DOES IT," says Tom Mickle, as he adjusts Den Healy's shoulder pads.
- 5 THE TRUTH IS OUT! Mary Heggen finds out that Nancy Houge is her "Big Sis."

CLASS OF '67!

52 Years of Banking Service to Ames and Central Iowa . . .

▶ . . . if you're an Ames High student, your parents—or even your grandparents—have benefitted from the many banking services of UNIVERSITY BANK AND TRUST. We've been growing with Ames since 1916. More than 52 senior classes ago, we began our long tradition of wanting to serve you better.

Our new downtown office at Main Street and Grand Avenue offers full banking services from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, until noon Saturdays. Two drive-up teller lanes assure you of fast, efficient service.

367 Ames seniors graduate at Commencement exercises

The Ames Golf and Country Club again hosted the seniors for the traditional picnic to celebrate the end of school and the start of Senior Week. Looking to the future, the seniors listened to the Rev. William F. Overhulser in his sermon, "You Can Take It With You," at the Baccalaureate service, May 26.

The next night at commencement, Jane Engeldinger and Chuck Maurer addressed their fellow classmates. Mixed emotions were felt as the Class of 1968 filed up the aisles to receive their diplomas. For some, joy and relief were felt as twelve long years came to an end. Many others experienced sadness as they realized a part of their life was gone forever.

Year topped by 'Cabaret' — the Junior-Senior Prom

The efforts of the Junior Class paid off at the Junior-Senior Prom on May 18, 1968. The theme was "Cabaret"—a French nightclub.

The Eiffel Tower overlooked dancers in the Sun Room and "Can-Can," with Frank Sinatra and Shirley MacLaine, was the movie. A sidewalk cafe atmosphere prevailed.

The Prom was over at midnight, but gaiety carried on at after-parties at the Elks Club for the seniors and the Moose Lodge for the juniors.

Students elect Healy, Baird

The coming of spring found Ames High once more in the midst of a student body election. Nominations over the sound system revealed four sets of candidates: Dennis Healy—Biff Baird; Dave Vandeventer—Charlie Ellis; John Parks—Jerry Bartruff, and Ed Cox—Steve Halterman.

Then followed a tense week of campaigning, complete with posters, buttons and copies of platforms. After hours of speech polishing, the candidates presented themselves for final student review at the election assembly. The assembly was followed by voting in the lobby. That night, at the Junior Class smorgasbord, it was announced that Dennis Healy and Biff Baird were the students' choice for student body president and vice-president.

The tennis team, under the new guidance of Coach Dale Tramp, posted a 9-2 record, the same as the team record last year.

Several bests were displayed by individuals. Senior Dave Hammer finished his last year of high school tennis with a perfect 9-0 record, including a first in singles in conference play. The doubles team of Fred Dahm and Dave Vandeventer took first in conference play. Dahm and Hammer won the district title in doubles.

Ames advanced Vandeventer in singles and Hammer and Dahm in doubles play to first round state competition.

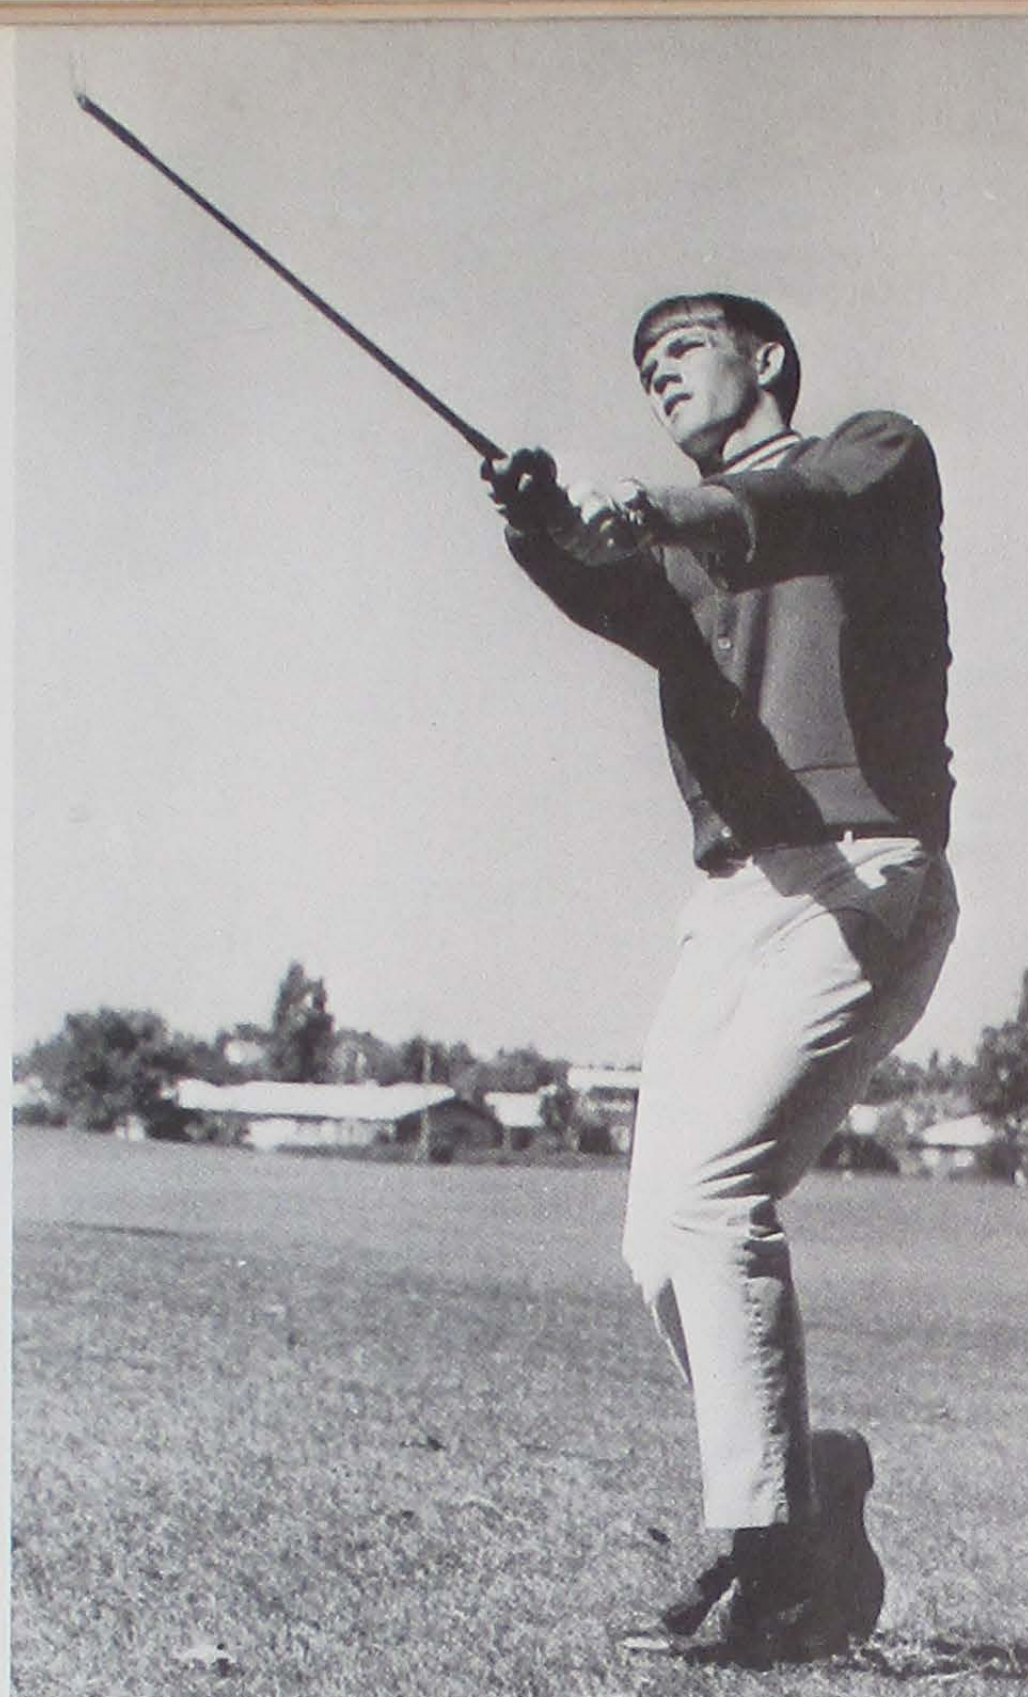

Golf takes state

"State Champions"; what more can be said about the Ames High 1967-68 golf team?

The team, coached by George Duvall, started the season by losing two of three very close matches. The team then woke up to make a clean sweep of Des Moines North, Newton, and Grinnell. Ames then took a hard one from tough competitor Roosevelt, only to bounce back and defeat Marshalltown. The team finished up its regular season play in a match lost to Boone.

The golfers had a good season, but whatever they were holding back broke loose in competition from sectional through state.

Ames took top honors in sectional play from Boone, Hoover and Webster City. In district play, Ames walked past Boone, Fort Dodge and Spencer. Ames then won the state championship with 321 and a personal best for the day of 76 by Jim Ryan.

Coach Ray Smalling retires after fourteenth season

After his fourteenth season, Coach Ray Smalling is retiring as Little Cyclone baseball coach. He has been in charge since the program was started in 1955. His teams have compiled a total win-loss record of 186-74. He coached one state champion team (1961) and five CIC champs ('57, '59, '60, '61, and '62). Only one team had a losing season ('66—8-10). Coach Smalling will continue as athletic director, a position he has held for five years, and guidance counselor. He also is homeroom coordinator.

- 1 "SUGAR RAY" SMALLING as he is affectionately known, displays various moods throughout the game.
- 2 HEADING HOME after a grand slam homer, Brian Johnson crosses the plate.
- 3 ZOOMING IN for a safe landing, Dennis Healy slides into third base.

Ames crushes Ankeny, bows to Boone in district.

After a rather ragged early season, Ames headed for the sectional play with an 8-10 win-loss record. Ames played its last game in the CIC when Boone handed down a 4-0 loss. Ames came back to shut out South Hamilton 9-0. Ames then entered sectionals, beating Collins 3-2 and Ballard 4-3, both times after late-inning rallies. Nevada led Ames 1-0 till the top of the seventh, when Ames staged a rally and won 3-1. Ames proved too powerful for Ankeny; rolling by 8-1. Ames' hope for a state title bid ended as Boone set back the Little Cyclones with a 3-1 loss.

Dogpatch's musical antics highlight 'Li'l Abner'

For three nights in April, the spirit of dogpatch, USA, filled Central Auditorium as the drama and music departments presented Li'l Abner. At one point in the musical, the Sadie Hawkins' Day chase, the cast invaded the audience by running through the aisles and descending on ropes from the balcony. The Dogpatchers, numbering more than one hundred, sang and danced to the musical score played by the Ames High orchestra.

More than two hundred students worked on the production, either on stage or behind the scenes.
